Chicago, March 27.—Chicago officials laugh at the story of a plot to assassinate the Prince of Wales when the latter visits the World's Fair. Assistant Superintendent of Police George W Hubbard has been looking up [illegible] of Chicago for years and [illegible] this afternoon: "The reds are very quiet and have not been doing anything for some time. The story was probably gotten up to frighten people away from the World's Fair, but I can safely say that none of our intended visitors need fear anything from [illegible]."

[illegible] Burned

Mason City, Ia. March 27.—The stable containing Kirk Bros racing string was burned to the ground this evening. In the stable were Storm, Brown John full brother to Storm, Storm Bird, Red Clay and several other valuable horses. Storm was one of the most promising horses on the turf. His speed showed from 2 [illegible] as a 2-year old to 2:08¼ as a 4-year-old. He was expected to make a mark of least 2:0[illegible] this season. An offer of $20,000 was refused but a few days previous

Ambassadors with Artistic Coachmen

Washington March 27.—Washington society in general is not a little [illegible] by the announcement that at least two foreign Ambassadors are to be added to the official representation here. The fact that as Ambassadors Sir Julian Pauncefote and M Patenotre may if they so choose [illegible] more stately equipages than ever before seen in this country accompanied by outriders and white-wigged footmen, has sent a thrill of excitement through the [illegible] where this topic has been discussed

As Minister Sir Julian Pauncefote receives a salary of [illegible] his high rank at [illegible] it. It is expected by [illegible] that this [illegible] be raised to [illegible] At the European courts ambassadors are able to surround themselves with every luxury. Their official visiting is done in a coach, drawn by four or six horses, with outriders in stunning livery and a coachman and footman absolute works of art in the way of powder patches and wigs. These equipages driving the streets of London Paris Vienna or Rome create something of a stir even where long custom has made everyone pretty well used to it but it is expected that it would create a decided sensation here

SENATE EXTRA SESSION

Washington March 27—In the Senate to-day the question as to the admission of the three men appointed as Senators from the States of Montana Wyoming and Washington was submitted in the shape of majority reports from the Committee on Privileges and Elections in favor of their right to seats. The minority reports against that right [illegible] presented to-morrow.

A [illegible] was made by Mr Call of a newspaper paragraph stating that he had been [illegible] President Cleveland in connection with appointments to office

Mr Chandler offered two resolutions which went over till to-morrow, one calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for copies of orders, regulations [illegible] and certificates prepared and issued in execution of the immigration act of March 3 1891 and the other [illegible] the committee on immigration to inquire into the condition and character of all [illegible] immigrants and into the working of the new immigration law with power to [illegible] and to send for persons and papers

The resolution heretofore offered by Mr [illegible] authorized by the last legislative bill to examine into the civil service of the executive branches of the government was called up. The commission consists of three Senators and three Representatives of the present Congress appointed by the two presiding officers of the last Congress and the resolution declares [illegible] the law to be in derogation of the constitutional right power and prerogative of [illegible] otherwise [illegible] of the constitution and to be absolutely null and void

Mr Harris suggested that the resolution be referred to the [illegible] It was stated however by M[illegible] [illegible] and it was therefore passed over [illegible] The Senate then proceeded to [illegible]

[illegible] of the Senate to-day an order was made to release for publication [illegible] Russian extradition [illegible] has not been [illegible] The question of [illegible] was [illegible] touched upon also [illegible] and a number of confirmations were [illegible] Mr Risley's [illegible] not be released until the next executive session

The Panama Scandal

Paris March 27.—The long strain to which the prisoners in the Panama case have been [illegible] to submit is beginning to tell upon them at last. M Charles De Lesseps, at the conciergerie is represented as being completely broken down. He shows no inclination to see visitors but sits in his chair listlessly all day long. M Baihaut, who made the public confession in the courtroom, seems to be equally overpowered by his sentence. Both prisoners will be sent shortly to Etampes, some [illegible] thirty five miles southwest of Paris

Herr Brandeis the correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt, has not left yet. It is quite possible that the decree ordering his expulsion from French soil will be annulled. He denies that he is the author of the article against President Carnot's son

The Journal gives a new version of the story of the 750,000 francs alleged to have been paid to M Floquet by the Panama Canal company. According to the current report Baron de Reinach simply appropriated the money and handed it over to M Floquet. This account declares that Baron Reinach obtained the money from M Cottu on the representation that he would with it make the Credit Foncier favorable to the Panama Canal; that on the failure of this object Reinach was compelled to refund 140,000 francs and M Floquet never had a penny of the money

Prohibited the Lombard

Boston March 27.—The Lombard Investment company, a western farm mortgage corporation, was to-day prohibited from transacting further business in this State by James Russell Reed Commissioner of Foreign Mortgage Corporations, and a notice to this effect was sent the Attorney General. The Commissioner bases his act on on a personal examination of the company's financial affairs. He first notified the President that the valuations of certain property were in excess of their value and a re-valuation of property in Wichita Kan., was made which he condemns as unsatisfactory saying "I do not believe any investor would have taken the mortgages placed by the company upon those properties if the whole story had been known

Mr Reed declares it is personal management of the company that he is aiming at. He gave the company thirty days to meet his requirements, and it failing to so do to-day [illegible] the order prohibiting it from doing business in M[illegible]

The Wheelmen's Organ

Chicago, March 27.—The League of American Wheelmen is without an official organ [illegible] last week's number of the Bi-World and Official Bulletin, published in Boston, being the last number to be sent through the mail. Vice-President Sheridan of the Wheelmen's League received a letter from the publishers of the paper stating that the company will publish the paper next week as usual, but will not send it through the mails as required by the contract. The reason given is that they are violating the postal laws by sending copies to members, because their subscriptions are not bona fide.

A meeting of the executive committee of the League will be held in New York the [illegible] of this week, when it is expected the matter will be adjusted

The [illegible] from Richard.

New York March 27.—Richard Croker the leader of Tammany Hall, is confined to his room by illness. His indisposition is not supposed to be serious.

Fire Alarms

Yesterday was not a good day for hose carts, two of the carts being wrecked during the day and another over-turned. The College cart was being returned to the hose house after a general over hauling. It was being drawn behind an express wagon, and was probably over loaded for it suddenly over turned. The axle was bent and one wheel splintered. It was put out of service at the city hall

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon a telephone message from the southern part of the city stated that the Midland trestle was on fire. An alarm was turned in at the City Hall. The companies made a mad rush for the scene and on the way the France cart overturned but after making a complete somersault righted itself and went on. It was found that one wheel was injured and the tongue was broken, but was not completely disabled. The alarm proved to be false although the France men made a plug connection

About 5:30 o'clock an alarm came in from Box [illegible] This fire proved to be at 112 Santa Fe avenue just above the Santa Fe freight depot. The France company got there first with the broken cart and were quickly followed by the Jacksons and Crowells. A coal house and other outbuildings had caught fire it is said by children playing with matches. It burned to the ground with other small outbuildings, but the firemen managed to save the small house in the vicinity. The building is owned by C C Smith and was unoccupied. The loss was not over $200. The France and Crowell teams wound up the day with a water fight

On the way to the fire the driver of the express wagon to which the Crowell cart was attached got headed wrong and started north. They turned back and when near the Baptist Church the wagon and cart both over turned. Fortunately, and almost miraculously no one was seriously injured. The wagon and cart were both righted and went on to the fire, manned by [illegible] not too much [illegible] by their fall [illegible]

Full Salary for the Fire Chief and a Police Patrol Wagon—Judges for the Election Appointed—The City Clerk Resigns and Tells the Reason Why

At the [illegible] Alderman [illegible]

The [illegible] from Mr W W Harris [illegible]

The [illegible] ordinance [illegible] the various [illegible] different city departments as [illegible] are given below. The ordinance [illegible] over under the rules and some of [illegible] may be changed at the next session. The total amount of the appropriations [illegible] to $131,842. This, it is not believed will bring the annual levy to less than it was last year. At least this [illegible] Alderman Dunbar chairman of the Finance committee struggled for last [illegible]. The city levy last year was 11 mills [illegible] The valuation in the city was [illegible] and 12 mills will bring the receipts to $70,[illegible]. Taking off $2,982, or 4 per cent for delinquent taxes, this leaves a net receipt from taxes of $67,908. The City Clerk's receipts were $58,000 and added to the tax receipts gives in round figures $125,000. The increase in the value of city property and in the city revenues will probably give enough money so that the tax levy this year will not be above 12 mills. This will be 1 mill less than in 1892

The amounts are appropriated for under the contingent fund also. The advertising fund [illegible] $7,000 and the Sons of Veterans $500

The big [illegible] of the [illegible] out of the fire department appropriation. Alderman Taylor asked for $400 for the department. He stated that it is proposed to give the chief $1400 salary, and out of this he is to pay the expense of keeping up the electrical [illegible] the cost [illegible] $400 and the chief would have about $1000. He is to devote his entire time to the city. The appropriation [illegible] new hose, new wire for the alarm system, new [illegible] etc

Alderman Dunbar was not in favor of making a large appropriation for the department, on the ground that a paid department is coming soon. He thought considerable money had been wasted in [illegible] work in the [illegible]. Alderman Taylor thought the city would save money by employing the chief all the time. Alderman Robbs was opposed to giving so much to the chief and nothing to the other firemen. He would not [illegible] all his time advantageously to the city. CITIZENS' NOMINATIONS.

For Mayor,
WILLIAM M STRICKLER

For City Treasurer,
MORRIS T. HALE

TWO CANDIDATES

The Populist organs of this city are trying to draw a line between what they call "the common people" and the rest of the citizens whom they call "plutocrats." They affirm that Dr Sinton is one of the "common people," while Dr Strickler is not. So far as we are aware, Dr Sinton is no more "common" than Dr Strickler. Both are professional men, both are men of integrity and good repute. In manner, dress and conversation, Dr Strickler is just as democratic as Dr Sinton—just as much a man of the people. The attempt of the Populist papers to draw such a line, and their appeal to a proletariat constituency, ought to alienate from them every self-respecting voter

In many ways Dr Sinton is just as good a man as Dr Strickler. He is clean and honest, and has always borne a good reputation. His personal character is above reproach. We do not believe, however, that he would be as good a Mayor as Dr Strickler. He is not so familiar with the city's affairs; he has had no experience, so far as we are aware, in administrative work and he is backed by an element which has showed itself either opposed to the interests of the city, or too ignorant to know what those interests require, and which has gone into the present contest for partisan political gain. For these reasons we advise the readers of THE GAZETTE, who, we trust and believe include a great many "common people," to vote for Dr Strickler for Mayor

THE CRUISER NEW YORK

The trial trip of the United States cruiser New York, which has been in course of construction at the Cramps shipyard was a great success. She was out from Tuesday until Saturday most of the time. The principal trial was on Saturday. In the morning she ran about ten miles out to sea and back and her average speed was 19.95 knots per hour. In the afternoon she ran four consecutive hours at an average speed of 20.3[illegible] knots, or about 23½ miles per hour

This breaks the record of all similar trials, and the constructors may well be proud of the performance. The New York is going to be a vessel which will be an honor to the American navy and the equal of any ship of her class anywhere in the world

THE ANN ARBOR CASE.

The most remarkable development of recent times in the relation between railway companies and their employes is the granting of orders by the United States District Court of Ohio commanding Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers to declare off a boycott that he had placed on the Ann Arbor railroad and ordering the arrest of certain engineers and firemen of the Lake Shore road who had refused to handle cars coming from the boycotted road

The jurisdiction of the Court is derived from the Interstate Commerce law, and rests upon the power granted by the Constitution to Congress to regulate commerce between the States. The freight refused by the Lake Shore engineers was interstate freight. The principal part of the order granted by Judge Ricks, is as follows

"You are engaged in a [illegible] of public [illegible] and the public is not only interested in the manner in which you perform your duties while you continue in that service, but is quite as much interested in the time and manner under which you quit that employ[illegible]

"You cannot [illegible] your own time and place in [illegible] the relations. If you were permitted to do so you might leave your work at a time and place and under circumstances which would involve irreparable damage to your employers and jeopardize the traveling public. Your employers owe a high duty to the public, which they are compelled to perform under severe penalties and they have in turn a higher claim upon you and your service than that due from the ordinary employe.

"This court does not assume the power to compel you to continue your services to your employers against your will but it does undertake to compel you to perform your whole duty while such relations continue and further claims for the purpose of ascertaining whether its orders have been violated the right to determine when your relation to your employers legally terminated and when your obligation to observe these orders ceases."

Heretofore in cases of railway strikes great care has generally been taken not to interfere with the transmission of the mails just because the strikers have been aware that if the mails were interfered with they would render themselves liable to prosecution in a Federal court. Now under the Interstate Commerce act, the railway companies have had serious and burdensome restrictions placed upon them; they are required to haul cars from other roads, and are held to the performance of this requirement. If this is to continue it is certainly logical for the court to hold the employees of the company responsible for carrying out their part of the service required by law to be performed

Now that federal control of the railway service has gone so far and companies are bound by strict rules enforced by federal courts it would be unfair to deny to the companies the aid of the courts in attempting to obey the mandates of the law

The whole subject of government regulation of railways is brought up by this decision, and will be argued before the Supreme Court of the United States and decided there. If the Interstate Commerce law is constitutional the order of Judge Ricks would seem to be constitutional too but both are a long step toward that paternalism in government which was so lamented in his recent Inaugural Message by President Cleveland

The most important office filled by the President yesterday is that of Solicitor of the Treasury. This officer is the principal legal adviser and counsel of the Treasury Department. Mr Reeves of Tennessee, who has been named for the place, may be known in Tennessee, but certainly he is not known outside of that State. He may be a good man for the place, but the wonder is how Mr Cleveland found it out.

The Democratic managers in Denver have apparently been copying the tactics of their party brethren in Jersey City and New York. No less than 9,105 challenges have been filed against persons registered as voters, and The Republican prints long lists of names which it claims were stuffed into the registry to help elect McGilvray. The trick having been exposed should react upon its perpetrators.

Another batch of appointments just made by the President contains not a single man that is known to the country at large unless we except that of George F Parker, who at one time was mentioned as a probable choice for Private Secretary. As Consul to Birmingham Mr Parker will make more money than he would as Private Secretary, and will not have to work half so hard

It is to be hoped that the Denver police will soon be able to discover the incendiary who tried to burn up the Chatfield store Saturday night. The evidence of attempted arson is too clear to be doubted, and the perpetrator ought to be promptly caught and punished

Our Ministers to France and England are hereafter to be Ambassadors, a rank which they ought to have had long ago. We gladly give credit to the Fifty Second Congress—which needs all the credit it can get—for passing the bill which made this change possible.

The State Senate has passed a bill for the establishment of a State Preparatory School at Alamosa. The State does not need a preparatory school. It has enough public institutions for higher education now to support.

The Pike's Peak Populist, in the same issue in which it attacks THE GAZETTE for unfairness pays a conspicuous tribute to our fairness by reprinting verbatim our report of Governor Waite's recent speech in this city

Beets and Business

From a financial standpoint no better prosperity could fall upon Montrose town and county than the building of a sugar beet factory. This is a matter of importance and of such a magnitude that we should be constantly striving to better all previous endeavors in this line. Let a factory be certain and the moment the first shovel is put in the ground for its erection Montrose will start on a boom that nothing can stop. Prosperity will smile upon us as never before and hard times will be a thing of the past. Keep up the agitation. We have done well so far but let us try to do better. Better the past no matter how good it was, should be an incentive to every farmer and merchant in this valley — Montrose Sun

An Exhortation to Populists

In municipal elections personal worth should take precedence over party affiliations. This is the correct doctrine if we would secure an honest, able and upright class of men to administer our city affairs. Men who are so blind as to vote a ticket because it is the ticket of their favorite party and who never pause to question the personal worth and fitness of the various nominees are worse than party slaves and are unworthy the right of suffrage. The differences and distinctions between parties are of no moment in municipal affairs. The man is the proper study of the voter and he should be guided by the idea he forms of the worth of the nominee and not by any blind party devotion — Colorado Clipper

A Cry for Pap

As the South is entitled to a very [illegible] share of patronage under an administration which she [illegible] to place in power, and [illegible] a reduction in the burdensome taxation which is grinding the life out of this section, let us have whatever of federal patronage that we may be entitled to under a liberal dispensation. We merit the exercise of great liberality on the part of the President and we believe the President fully realizes the truth and will act accordingly — Birmingham Age Herald

Not One Available Candidate

As for City Treasurer we consider there is but one available candidate. His name is Morris T Hale. He has the ability, the character, the experience and qualifications that make him eminently adapted for the efficient discharge of the duties of the office.— Boston Bulletin.

OFFICE SEEKERS GRIEVING

Probabilities of an Extra Session—Unknown Men for Important Offices

Special Correspondence of THE GAZETTE.

WASHINGTON March 2[illegible] —There is just one class of people in Washington who are satisfied with the situation. They are the hotel keepers. They number perhaps a score while the many thousands of office seekers are intensely dissatisfied and the tens of thousands of office holders are intensely anxious. So on the whole the hotel keepers although vastly in the minority have the best of it and will have as long as the money of the office seekers holds out.

The cause of the anxiety of the office holders and of the disgust of the office seekers can be readily recognized in the fact that the third week of President Cleveland's administration closed with only a score of appointments of importance made. The total number, including postoffices is but a half hundred. There have been just enough to make the office holders uneasy and the character of the selections has been sufficient to make the office seekers more uneasy than the office holders. Scarcely a man who has asked for anything has been successful. Aside from a few ex members of Congress who had been laid aside as back numbers by the people the selections for the offices thus far filled are unknown men and are men inexperienced in public affairs. The First Assistant Secretary of State Quincy of Massachusetts the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, who is the sheet [illegible] of that department Maxwell of New York the Solicitor for the Department of State Dabney of Virginia the Fifth Auditor of the Treasury, Holcomb of Delaware the Commissioner of the General Land Office, Lamoreux of Wisconsin, and the Statistician of the Agricultural Department, Robinson, of Michigan are all men unheard of in public affairs and necessarily lacking in value by reason of their inexperience. The most widely known of the men who have been appointed are ex Confederate General Wade Hampton and ex-Confederate, ex Senator Eustis. It is not surprising, therefore, that the northern Democrats who have borne the burden and heat of the day are dissatisfied.

The President stands firmly up to his originally expressed determination of only filling the offices after the terms of the present occupants have expired. This, of course, does not apply to the few positions of extreme or confidential importance, such as assistants to the cabinet officers or the diplomatic appointments, but in the great mass of places to be filled he undoubtedly intends to permit the present occupants to serve out their term. A very large proportion of the offices of importance are appointed for a term of four years. All Presidential postmasters and this includes all receiving a salary of over one thousand dollars a year all officers of the Department of Justice, such as Marshals, District Attorneys, etc, all appointees of the Interior Department, such as Territorial Governors, registers and receivers of land offices, [illegible] agents and Indian agents, and many of the [illegible] officers under the Treasury Department have a four years' term. This leaves simply the internal revenue officers, the special agents of the Treasury Department and the [illegible] as about the only offices outside of those protected by civil service rules who have not a four years' term and are liable to removal at any time. As a consequence there are very few appointments being made and very few likely to be made for some months. Many of the men now holding these four year positions were commissioned after the meeting of the regular session of Congress in 1889 and 1890 and as a consequence their terms will not expire until the very last days of the present year and many of them not until some time in 189[illegible]. This reduces very greatly the chances of the people who had been hoping to get into these offices at once, while the President's adhesion to his determination not to reappoint men who served under him before reduces still more the chances of success among those seeking for places.

The three positions which seem to be giving Mr Cleveland the most anxiety are the Pension Commissionership, the Internal Revenue Commissionership and the position of Public Printer. The Pension office is responsible for the proper distribution of over $150,000 000 a year, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue is responsible for the collection of an equal sum and the public printer is responsible for the conduct of the biggest printing establishment in the world. It is not remarkable therefore that the President is giving the selection of these men very careful consideration. And it seems quite probable that he will give the country and the men who are asking for these places some surprises by selecting men for the positions who have not been heretofore considered in connection with them.

Nothing is definitely known as to how much longer the Senate will remain in session, but it is presumed that another week will probably end the session. Nothing can be accomplished aside from the confirmation of appointees and it is understood that Mr Cleveland expects to send in during the coming week all the names that it is absolutely necessary should be confirmed before Congress comes together for its regular round of duties.

The impression still prevails that an extra session of Congress will be called. Several people who have consulted the President upon matters having a bearing upon the meeting of Congress have formed the opinion that this course would be adopted. There is one special reason for an early session and that is to take action upon the question of annexation of Hawaii. Commissioner Blount who has been sent over there to see whether he can find any ground on which to pick flaws with the Harrison administration will be back by May or June and it is felt that if anything is to be done in the way of annexation it will be scarcely safe to leave the matter open until December. Hence the probability of an extra session in September. Besides Secretary Carlisle expects to have a new tariff bill shaped up by that time and the President is anxious to set Congress to work upon his pet project of revising the tariff. Another reason why he wants an extra session is in order that he may utilize the power over members of Congress which the unfilled offices give him in dictating their course on the silver question.

The Eye and the Telescope

The following careful statement by Professor E S Holden on the power of the eye and the telescope as they are contrasted in actual experience is of special and permanent interest. If the brightness of a star seen with the eye alone is one with a 1-inch telescope it is [illegible] times as bright, with a 4 inch telescope it is 400 times as bright, 8 inch telescope it is 1,600 times as bright, 16 inch telescope it is [illegible] times as bright, 32 inch telescope it is [illegible] times as bright, 36 inch telescope it is 32,400 times as bright. That is stars can be seen with the 36-inch telescope which are 80,000 times fainter than the faintest stars visible to the naked eye. While the magnifying power which can be successfully used on a 5-inch telescope is not above 400 the 36-inch telescope will permit a magnifying power of more than 2,000 diameters on suitable objects, stars, for example.

This power cannot be used on the moon and planets with real advantage for many reasons, but probably a power of 1,000 or 1,500 will be the maximum. The moon will thus appear under the same conditions as if it were to be viewed by the naked eye at a distance of say 200 miles. This is the same as saying that objects about 500 feet square can be recognized so that no village or great canal or even large edifices can be built on the moon without our knowledge. Highly organized life on the moon will make itself known in this indirect way if it exists. If one were looking at the earth under the same conditions the great works of hydraulic mining or the great operations of Dakota farmers or California ranches would be obvious — Worthington's Magazine.

Luncheons For Employees.

It is the custom of many of the trust companies and large banking houses in this city to provide a noon meal for all of their employees on their own premises. This is done for two reasons: to save time and to prevent leakages of office secrets. One of the most important trust companies down town has a thoroughly equipped restaurant on the top floor of its building where about 150 men women and boys are fed between 12 m and 2 p m. For luncheon purposes the clerks are divided into sections and each section is allowed a certain amount of time. A liberal bill of fare is provided and the men are not restricted in the extent of their orders so long as they keep their gastronomic desires within reasonable bounds. The heads of the departments have separate tables. No person unless he or she is an employee of the company is allowed to eat in this restaurant.

Nobody is permitted to invite even a friend from out of town to take luncheon with him. The head of a prosperous private banking house in Broad street says that for several years he had followed the practice of keeping his clerks within office limits during business hours and he believes that it pays well. He feeds them all at noon at his own expense and is by no means niggardly. The number of his employees is steadily increasing consequently this item of expense is constantly growing larger. His firm paid out about $5,000 for employees luncheons last year — New York Times

He must have [illegible] and exercise, and if [illegible] stead of but 24 hours in [illegible] couldn't enjoy those and [illegible] half of the aspirants and give [illegible] the time desired. Besides, the secretary has much other and [illegible] tant work to do, and [illegible] gantlet toward the [illegible] hands and exclaiming:

"You must excuse me, gentlemen [illegible] I must go to the executive [illegible] once. I am glad to see [illegible] must excuse me now. I remember [illegible] very well, sir, but I must pass on [illegible] Come and see me again."

And thus he presses his way [illegible] and is off. His bearing is [illegible] He is simply trying to do the best [illegible] can to be courteous, gentle and [illegible] erate under trying circumstances. Day after day he is fatigued by [illegible] this. Yet he works on, and [illegible] hang on, and here we have a glimpse of the office seeking scenes of the day.

What I have told you of one morning in the rooms of the secretary of state is true of every morning of every cabinet minister's office, of the White House itself. On the part of the representatives of the government there is patience and also keen appreciation of the fact that these men who seek official appointment have their rights and that they are worthy of respect and consideration. It is not disgraceful, though decidedly uncomfortable, to seek office amid this scramble. But how wearisome must be the grind, how [illegible] and useless must all the pushing and pulling seem to the cabinet ministers, who know that 15 out of every 16 of this long procession must have only bitter disappointment for their pains!

It is not alone the executive officers of the government who suffer. Senators and congressmen are overwhelmed. They fly to Fortress Monroe for a few days' respite, or to New York—any place but Washington or home. Their mail is dumped upon their desks by bushels and all singing the same tune. A dozen clerks and stenographers could not keep up with their correspondence these days. Their private and family letters he buried in the mass which they do not get by a time to open. Invitations to dinner are discovered days after the feast and while the would be host is cursing the guests who never came nor even sent their regrets. WALTER WELLMAN.

Drinking the Health.

Drinking one's health is the custom the world over, and the toasts of all nations are practically the same. The "a votre sante" of the Frenchman is the same to all intents and purposes as the "alla salute" of the Italian and the "Your good health" of the American. But in the United States we have innumerable expressions of good will over the cups—such, for instance, as "My regards," which is western; "Here's how," which is eastern; "I look to des you, sir," which is southern, or "Here's my pious," meaning "my pious regards." Other Americanisms are "Good luck," "I'm looking at you," "Here's your eye," "Till we meet again," "Happy days," "May your shadow never grow less," etc —New York Tribune.

Charges Against a Minister.

"The bitterness of M. Tricoupis," M Deschamps remarks, "his fatal ardor for work, his tragic and fatigued air, fill the Greeks with stupefaction. It seems to them his conception of life is strange and that he must have learned those ways in more [illegible] latitudes where the sun never shines." When I was in Athens some years ago, the most serious charges against the prime minister I was able to seize were the extensiveness of his col[illegible] and cuffs, which were found an English exaggeration, his bolt uprightness and his habit of speaking without gesticulation a l'anglaise, the Greeks would bitterly add.—Westminster Review.

For[illegible] Club Membership.

Members of a New York club are a little shocked at receiving from the club authorities a circular asking everybody to do what he can to increase the club membership. This wholesale method of soliciting members is deemed unwise, but it is a small matter compared with advertising for new members, a thing occasionally resorted to by the proprietary clubs of London. Such an advertisement now running in a London politico literary weekly is especially addressed to members of parliament.—New York Sun.

A Boy's Clever Trick.

A young boy in Ionia, Mich., wanted to attend the theater the other evening but he did not have the necessary money. He borrowed from one of his companions a telegraph messenger's book and told the doorkeeper that he had a message for some one in the audience. After gaining admittance he threw the book out of a window to the messenger and naturally enjoyed the performance.

One man may eat half as much again as another simply because he has got into the habit of eating largely. There is no doubt that almost all of us eat more than is really needful to keep us in a proper state of health.

Pumps with plungers and pistons were invented by Morland, an Englishman, in 1674, the double acting pump by De la Hire, the French academician, some 20 years later.

ATCHISON, TOPEKA AND SANTA FE.

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED EXCURSIONS TO CALIFORNIA.

Jack Frost stimulates travel. When he touches our ears, we think about getting warm.

California has the ideal winter climate, just far enough South to be sunshiny and frostless, and yet with sufficient tonic in the air.

Santa Fe Route takes Jack Frost's hints and has arranged a series of personally conducted weekly excursions to California, Pullman Tourist Sleepers, furnished with bedding, toilet articles, etc., leave Chicago and St. Louis every Saturday evening, and leave Kansas City every Sunday morning, via A. T. & S. F. and A. & P. line, for Los Angeles and San Francisco, on fast express trains.

Special agents and porters in attendance. Second-class tickets honored. A small charge for use of tourist sleeper. Everything first-class and comfortable.

Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write to G. T. Nicholson, G. P. & T. A., Santa Fe Route, Topeka, Kan., for a copy of folder describing these excursions.

Passengers leaving Colorado Springs Monday morning at 8:20, will connect with the train. Ticket office No. 18 N. Tejon st.
